

Subrogation services for global marine and transportation claims

It's estimated each year, businesses lose millions of dollars paying claims that – at least in part – should be paid by a responsible third party. A significant amount of paid claims can be recovered through subrogation, increasing the bottom line. Sedgwick's goal is to ensure our customers have the best recovery results possible and, at the same time, minimize related expenses.

Who we are and what we do

Sedgwick's subrogation services were created to ensure our clients maximize their recovery opportunities. We are dedicated to reducing loss payout and expenses for our clients' marine, transportation and motor truck cargo claims – from minor transportation accidents to multi-million dollar marine losses.

Providing this level of service to our customers is a team of experts with the jurisdictional training and specific knowledge needed to find subrogation dollars quickly and accurately. We offer services for companies across the globe, including major marine/transportation insurance companies and self-insureds. We also help customers recover deductibles and retention dollars.

Our experts help clients increase recovery totals while ensuring that our claims team has the time they need to fully dedicate to managing individual claims. We also partner with recognized law firms for the litigation of claims when required. We will manage the litigation and reporting process for you so that you receive the best legal representation possible.

A better approach to subrogation

Sedgwick's approach is different. We know that every dollar matters to our clients. Our focus is on investigating every possible subrogation opportunity available through our large team of recognized industry experts.

Once we have identified the potential for recovery, we work closely with the claims department to investigate all aspects of the recovery. If the claim warrants, we will pursue the responsible party on our client's behalf.
