

Unemployment tax management services

Understanding unemployment tax laws and regulations and the impact of business activities on tax liability can be overwhelming for employers. Sedgwick's experts provide a wide range of unemployment services to help clients analyze liability, manage tax accounts and uncover possible savings.

Expert support and strategic guidance

We offer comprehensive services surrounding mergers and acquisitions, reorganizations, and/or tax planning projects that help each client determine the impact of these activities on their unemployment tax liability. We also identify potential unemployment tax savings opportunities and assist with the preparation of all related tax documents.

Our experienced team can prepare tax impact analyses that include the estimated effect on unemployment tax liability due to anticipated layoffs or location closings, one or more non-contested claims and anticipated increases in taxable payroll.

We also provide assistance with state unemployment and state and local income tax withholding account registrations for new accounts, and help with closure or cancellation of state accounts.

In addition, Sedgwick performs retrospective unemployment tax audits to identify potential savings opportunities, refunds or credits, and identify any potential compliance risks based on prior corporate changes, reorganizations, mergers and acquisitions.
