

Ancillary care network

After an employee is injured, they may need assistance with various aspects of their medical treatment, such as scheduling home healthcare, finding a wheelchair or getting to an appointment. Coordinating with multiple service providers can be overwhelming. Our ancillary care team can help.

We connect injured employees to a wide array of services offered through our ancillary care network, which includes more than 40,000 providers. Our in-house care coordinators assist with scheduling and provide oversight for all services including:

Durable medical equipment (DMEPOS)

- Custom/power mobility
- Audiology services and hearing aids
- Orthotics and prosthetics
- Home and vehicle modifications
- Medical supplies

Home healthcare (RN/LPN/HHA)

- Catastrophic and complex care
- Discharge planning
- High-tech nursing
- In-home physical, occupational and speech therapy

Translation and language

- Certified and legal interpretation
- 250 languages including American Sign Language
- Virtual, telephonic and in person

Transportation and travel support

- Automobile, such as rideshare, car and taxi services
- Hotel accommodations
- Advanced life support
- Train
- Wheelchair

Caring for injured employees

When your employees need these services, our claims examiners can make referrals within our claims management system or contact our ancillary care team. We provide a 48-hour scheduling guarantee for all services, and we schedule the same day or the next day for urgent requests.

Our care coordinators and examiners work together to support the injured employee's needs, manage their expectations, and move claims toward closure as quickly and carefully as possible.

Managing care and cost

By providing high quality ancillary support via our specialty network, we make it easy to carry out employee treatment plans while controlling costs. We have negotiated rates with our large network of service providers to help clients save on medical costs, while expediting employee access to care.

Our data-driven approach

We provide clients with access to the data that means the most to them, so they can make informed decisions. With our reports on utilization, cost and service delivery, clients have the information they need, when they need it.
