

Washington Group retro program

Let Sedgwick help your organization qualify for refunds on workers' comp premiums and lower the upfront payments you make to the Department of Labor & Industries.

Why Sedgwick-administered group retro?

The Sedgwick program is approved through the Department of Labor & Industries and provides employers an opportunity to receive refunds on workers' compensation premiums. By joining the group retro program, you participate in a pool of similar businesses allowing you to spread your risk and benefit from regular refunds.

How much can I save?

On average retro refunds range between 10-20 percent; however, the savings in program benefits and resources far exceed your refund. Sedgwick uses a merit-based approach providing your company an opportunity to receive a refund that is higher than the average. Also, participation can help lower your experience factor which lowers overall workers' comp costs.

A true customer-centric approach

The Sedgwick group retro program is about lowering your experience factor by reducing the frequency and severity of accidents utilizing smart claims management, educating your organization on risk, health and safety issues affecting your premium costs and ultimately partnering with you to create an efficient and safe-smart workplace. Sedgwick offers:

- Excellent refund potential
- All of the refund goes back to you
- Refund formula is merit-based
- Strength in numbers
- Comprehensive services
